Task-level allocation: not identifiable from archived outputs

Original CSVs contain aggregate output and AI task counts, but no task activity, normalized task index, or task-level K/L allocation.
A 20-task distribution would require verified observational instrumentation and baseline-matched reproduction of the original simulation.

Evidence gap — no task-level values are plotted